

Martin-Leese Lecture Series

SPOTTED LANTERNFLY'S THREAT TO PENNSYLVANIA

September 7, 2023 🌀 7:00 p.m. 🌀 Warehime-Myers Mansion

GARDENS, FARMS and FORESTS INVADED

Jason Reed, from Penn State Extension and Master Gardener Coordinator for York County, will present a detailed program with slides on the history and migration of Lanternflies. Fall is the time when you discover egg masses on trees and surfaces around city and rural areas.

He requested the month of September for his presentation because that is when you can prevent the eggs from hatching. Jason is an outstanding educator and his programs bring awareness and options on ways to deal with this invader!

Martin-Leese Lectures are free and open to the public. The Warehime-Myers Mansion is located at 305 Baltimore Street, Hanover, PA 17331.